

What will he do between now and the mid-terms?

We know that the Trump Presidency is over...period. He has lost his mind and is pushing the world into an abyss. The finale act of his insanity for me was his post Sunday morning...Easter morning.

“Tuesday will be Power Plant Day, and Bridge Day, all wrapped up in one, in Iran. There will be nothing like it!!! Open the F—in’ Strait, you crazy bastards, or you’ll be living in Hell – JUST WATCH! Praise be to Allah. President DONALD J. TRUMP,” Trump wrote this trash in a Truth Social post.

Listen to that language...think about it...let it sink in to your soul. What sane decent person would say something that foul...let alone on Easter morning!?! It takes a demented person to say such things...and especially so on Easter morning. Dementia, insanity, or a warmongering personality? Whatever the case...it is NOT the trait of a respectable leader that you can trust. And yes, some people would, and rightfully so, question if it was something a believer would say at all.

And hidden in that post was the fact, by Trump’s own admission, that the US military, under Trump’s leadership, can’t open the Strait of Hormuz...we are losing the Iran War...that to is obvious.

Here is the kicker...I’ve done research now for almost two weeks. What I have found is pretty plain and simple based on experts in international law...targeting civilians or civilian infrastructure is a war crime. When we struck Iran’s Shajareh Tayyebah girl’s elementary school with multiple missiles that was a war crime if there ever was one. And no one can realistically claim it was accidental...it was struck with multiple missiles...meaning it was intentional...it was targeted. That’s a war crime.

When Trump’s announces he will attack power plants and bridges...civilian infrastructure...those too are war crimes. War crimes he is admitting to, confessing to, even before he does it.

But let’s back up for a minute...

Trump announces he is the “Peace President” but bombs Iran last year, then bombs and invades a sovereign country...and kidnaps their President. Then he starts a war with Iran that directly costs the US taxpayers 100’s of billion of dollars. But that same war costs the US economy hundreds of billions more. Then the US stock markets loses trillions of dollars in value. And the war has now cost the world trillions of dollars more. I guess he got it more right when he renamed the Department of Defense the Department of War...which he has waged non-stop since elected.

What will he do between now and the mid-terms?

Think about this...DoD's (DoW's) civilian harm mitigation program was responsible not only for minimizing civilian casualties before strikes, but also in assessing civilian casualty incidents post-strike, which helps to draw lessons for the future. However, Pentagon Pistol Pete Hegseth canceled all of that just before Trump ordered the start of the Iranian War. Coincidence? I think not.

Remember back last year when the Department of War was killing civilians in power boats who Pentagon Pistol Pete accused of running drugs...but were never actually found guilty of such through any legal process? Yeah, here's from a former Pentagon insider, "It's difficult to imagine how any lawyers inside the Pentagon could have arrived at a conclusion that this was legal rather than the very definition of murder under international law rules that the Defense Department has long accepted."

So clearly, and without question, the US...or rather Trump...is committing war crimes via his Department of WAR.

What does the entire world think about Trump's behavior? Only 31% of the world approves of Trump...that's probably only the US and Israel. Interesting...since Trump took office...the global US approval rating has dropped a full 8 percentage points. Whoa!

Let's get serious about what US citizens think about Trump:

- On inauguration Day his approval was 52%...it is now 39% with some polls showing as low as 31% approval.
- On inauguration Day his disapproval was 43%...it is now 57% with some polls showing as high as 64% disapproval.
- Trump's approval of his Iranian War is 37%...below his overall approval number.

Trump's approval rating of 39% is only his core group of supporters. But republicans are 45% of registered voters. So Trump only has the support of 85% of republicans. And of his most loyal supporters...5% don't approve of his Iranian War.

Conclusion...Trump's war with Iranian is hugely costly to the entire world and the world doesn't approve of him or his war...nor do US citizens...both by a huge margin.

So I ask again...Why would Trump do such things? "Things" being killing thousands of people, including civilians, committing war crimes, costing the world trillions and trillions of dollars...and costing the lives of US service personnel.

What will he do between now and the mid-terms?

I can't help but wonder why would Trump be pushing the world off the cliff into the abyss?

I guess in all fairness I should ask...Does he even know he is doing it?

You read his Easter message, then review his war address last week, and it is fair to start to wonder if he is even aware of what he is doing. He has always been a bit "off" when speaking off script...and it has gotten noticeably worse in the last year. He has also lies regularly about a wide range of actions and topics. But that too is nothing new.

So he either knows what he is doing or not. If he does know what he is doing...it is criminal at worst...irresponsible at best. Challenge that if you will...Is it responsible to cost the world trillions and trillions of dollars, kill hundreds (if not thousands) of civilians, and threaten to bomb an entire country back to the stone age?

Then we take the other path...What if he does know what he is doing? That throws the conversation into a whole other realm of darkness.

Remember, according to multiple administration insiders, no US intelligence agency told Trump that Iran was an imminent threat to the US...or that Iran was building a nuclear weapon. And according to Trump himself...the US "obliterated" all of Iran's nuclear capability last year when the US attacked and bombed Iran. So what was the basis of his starting a war using that justification?

Yes, there are numerous credible sources saying Trump based his war on Israeli intelligence...and that reasoning carries a lot of weight and has a clear ring of truth in it. But, if Israel knew...then why did none of our own intelligence agencies know it? Or, why would Trump take the word of a foreign country vs our own intelligence agencies?

Yes, even Rubio said that Trump went to war because Israel was going to.

Okay, I am plowing ground that has already been plowed. My point...Trump's Presidency is over. Trump does not have the support of the majority of US citizens...only a small minority. Trump does not even have the support of our allies let alone the world in general. Think about this...China's government has a higher approval rating than Trump...by 5 percentage points!!!! A communist country, an authoritarian/totalitarian government, has a better global approval rating than Trump!!! Oh my gosh...can you even fathom that?

Now time for the nitty-gritty...Trump knows, unless he is mentally ill, knows he is done as President. Sure, he can act as a dictator till the mid-terms, but after that he is done...and virtually assured to be impeached and removed from office should Dems take Congress.

What will he do between now and the mid-terms?

All that being said...

What does Trump do between now and then?

Think about it...the economy is trashed...inflation for March is well above 3%...worse than when Trump took over as president. But what about the so-called great jobs market his administration was just bragging about?

- 178,000 jobs added in March.
- Almost 50,000 of those jobs were nurses returning to work after their strikes were over.
- Almost the same number are construction and related jobs based on entering the normal construction season.
- Long-term unemployment is up 322,000 from last year.
- But unemployment stayed the same...we aren't losing ground, right?
 - 144,000 people "discouraged unemployed" stopped looking for work in March 2026 and left the workforce.
 - Another 256,000 people left the workforce for other reasons in March 2026.
 - That's 400,000 fewer US workers that artificially lowered the unemployment rate.
 - If you count them back in unemployment rate shoots up to 4.4%...way worse since Trump took office.
- In March 2026 835,000 people filed for first-time unemployment benefits, over 200,000 per week. Good or bad?

So go ahead...let them brag about the job's report...then understand what is really going on behind the bragging that could choke a maggot. The Trump Economy is trashed and getting worse...it is obvious for any reasonable person to see.

Bottom line...Trump is losing on every front both here in the US and around the world. He's gotta know (or should know) that he is now a war criminal based on international law. Then he is staring the reality of the mid-terms in the eye...and probable removal from office. What does Trump do next?

Seriously, consider that question...what options does he have? In his mind what can he do to save his legacy...stay in the White House...or even stay out of jail? If Trump is willing to bring us to the gates of World War 3...and threaten to use nuclear weapons...what is he truly capable of?

And that my friends is the big question...and one we, as preppers, need to be thinking of...and preparing for.

What will he do between now and the mid-terms?

Just a little humor for the day...

Maybe this one strikes a little too close to home...

What will he do between now and the mid-terms?

This will get me some hate mail...

This one would make Tucker smile...and generate even more hate mail for me...
